

Cryptocurrency + Neo-Feudalism:

A Conversation with Jodi Dean, David Columbia, and Britt Paris

Friday, May. 5th 3:00-5:00pm in 423 Morrill Hall

Scholars have recently argued that 21st century capitalism increasingly resembles a new form of feudalism. If so, how does cryptocurrency fit into it? Professors Jodi Dean (Political Science, Hobart & William Smith Colleges), David Columbia (English and Digital Studies, Virginia Commonwealth University), and Britt Paris (Information Science, Rutgers University) will join Owen Marshall (Science & Technology Studies, Cornell University) in discussing the ongoing interplay of money, technology, and right-wing ideology in an era of capitalism-in-crisis.

This event is hosted by The Crypto-Feudalism Working Group (ISD7) & sponsored by the Central New York Humanities Corridor.
